B. Omni-Lite as a Business

Omni-Lite's key competitive strengths include the development and manufacture of specialized products utilizing advanced materials and precision computer controlled cold forging techniques. Combining these advantages and a team of key design and material engineers, production technicians, marketing and administrative support personnel has enabled Omni-Lite to prosper in the competitive environment of the 21st century. This strategy has quickly brought Omni-Lite to the forefront of technological development.

In fiscal 2001, the company successfully completed the development of a component for SNC Technologies Inc. of Canada. Production of this component began in Q3 of 2001. Of particular importance, the company was successful in advancing its Aerospace Division with the continuation of projects with Huck International, Inc. and Monogram Aerospace Fasteners. Of significance is the development of a multi-component program with Monogram. To date the company has developed and begun shipping seven components to Monogram. These products from the Aerospace division will be utilized in the products of Boeing, Airbus, Bombardier and other aircraft manufactures. The successful implementation of these projects has made the Aerospace and Military divisions the fastest growing in the company. Ongoing Research and Development into the metallurgy, structural design and production of these and other complex components will be the key to the company's financial success.

C. Omni-Lite's Markets

Omni-Lite's primary market is the development of precision components utilized by many of the world's largest corporations. In 2001, Omni-Lite's components were utilized in the products of Daimler-Chrysler, GM, Ford, Mazda, Nike, adidas, Reebok, the U.S. Army and NATO and the aircraft manufacturers mentioned above. The requirements and stature of these customers necessitates that the company operate at a very high level of engineering and production efficiency. To this end the company has added, in 2002, a full-time quality manager and full-time tool and die support. These initiatives, coupled with the move to the new facility by the end of Q2 should provide improved efficiencies for the corporation.

Omni-Lite's Sports and Recreation products are marketed in over 140 countries worldwide through the catalogs of Nike, adidas, Eastbay, M-F Athletics and Springco.

D. Growth Record

January 1998 saw the initiation of an expansion program during which Omni-Lite's manufacturing capability increased from two production systems to ten by April 2000. During 2000, the company commenced discussions towards purchasing a larger cold forging system. This equipment with a retail price of over $520,000US was purchased in February 2001 for approximately $280,000US. The equipment is being modified for a variety of product developments which is scheduled to begin in the second quarter of 2002. In March 2002 the company purchased an additional five progressive forging systems for $1,420,000US. These machines were all purchased at a significant discount to retail list value and included favorable financing terms.

E. Growth Expectations

In 2001, Omni-Lite continued a period of rapid development. Several new projects were initiated in the Aerospace, Automotive and Military Divisions. These long term developments bode well for the company's future growth. To help provide future growth and to add additional depth to the management team at Omni-Lite, Tim Wang, P.Eng. joined Omni-Lite in the third quarter of 2001 as Manager of Sales and Business Development.

F. Risk Factors

The business climate of the 21st century presents risks that include the development of competition on a worldwide basis. Of particular concern over the last year, has been the continued slowing of the U.S. economy and the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

As Omni-Lite grows in revenue the company becomes subject to increasing interest from corporations that would like to imitate the successes that have been achieved. The company has and will continue to aggressively protect itself through a variety of means that include:

1. patent and trademark protection
2. license agreements
3. joint venture agreements
4. development of proprietary technology and products

Of particular significance is the fact that Omni-Lite has received five U.S. patents to date. The company is in the process of applying for two additional patents.

While key individuals are continuously trained in the critical aspects of the company's technology, providing redundancy at the production level, retaining highly skilled staff is a challenge in the marketplace in which the company operates. The company has experienced additional expense as key staff are trained.

G. International Operations

To support the international scope of the market place Omni-Lite has established two wholly owned subsidiaries in Barbados. These complement the production center in Cerritos, California. The staff in Barbados is responsible for marketing, sales, and maintaining international markets for Omni-Lite's products.

Item 2 Quarterly Information

The following table summarizes the company's financial performance over the last eight quarters. All figures in US dollars unless noted.

Of particular note, because of the reduction in the number of shares and fluctuations in exchange rates over the year, the earnings per share at year-end are .14CDN/share.

Item 3 Liquidity and Capital Resources

The company anticipates that cash flow will meet the on going working capital requirements of the company. Between June 2001 and December 2001 the company repurchased 329,300 common shares through it's normal course issuer bid which expires in May 2002. The company will continue the repayment of long-term debt with excess funds. In April 2002 the company made the last mortgage payment on the new Cerritos facility. The facility is currently being modified to allow the rental of approximately 6000 square feet, providing additional revenue to the company.
